Koshowko feat. Rupert Owen: 'Remix This'

Melbourne, Australia.

Indie label Las Machinas presents 'Remix This' - a collaboration between indie electronic pop act KOSHOWKO and a spoken word artist – RUPERT OWEN. 'Remix This' has been recently released as a 2 track single and is available online as a digital download and on CD.

'Remix this' is a song that turns the tables on nightclubbing with a yearning to be mashed, mixed and moved to. Harking back to the verse with music that frees the slaves to the rhythm to have their wicked way with the lyric. Alternatively it's about a poem that makes good on the popular charts being remixed by deejays.

The video clip to 'Remix This' has been selected out of 1000 entries to screen at the 5th ZEBRA Poetry Film Festival in Berlin in 2010. The clip was also screened at the 19th Yach Film Festival in Gdansk, Poland. In 2011 the video has been selected from over a thousand entries to be played as one of 18 unforgettable Australian music videos at the biggest screen in the Southern Hemisphere - at SOUNDKILDA - Australian music video competition. The video has also received airplay on Australian national television (Rage Airplay).

KOSHOWKO is the musical brainchild of Polish born Martin K, philosopher turned music producer. Martin K has spent last couple of years working in close collaboration with various electronic and dance artists. These have included production and remixes for Disco Stu, B(if)tek, Winduptoys, Iubar Project and Philosophy Of Sound.

KOSHOWKO have performed live at various venues in Victoria as well as at festivals including; Fringe, Renaissance, Electundra and St Kilda Festival. In December 2007 the act returned from a mini-tour of Germany promoting their EP 'Anarchy Monarchy'. The EP was described by Melbourne's Beat Magazine as, "...Clever, catchy, dangerously original, well produced...Do not risk not knowing about this stuff."

In 2009 one of Koshowko's songs - 'The Story', has made it to the finals of The International Songwriting Competition chosen out of over 15,500 entrants.
